

Karen Dempsey
Area HR Manager
Europe & Latin America
Air France KLM

Karen, a British citizen, has built an extensive career in Human Resources and employee relations across diverse sectors, including finance, manufacturing, retail, logistics, and transport. Born and educated in the UK, Karen joined Air France KLM in 2004 and has since held various positions in the UK, Singapore, and the Netherlands. Her extensive international experience has equipped her with a deep understanding of global HR dynamics and cultural nuances.

Committed to her own professional development, Karen qualified as an executive coach to enhance her ability to support and guide leaders within the organisation. In her roles within International HR, she has been dedicated to fostering continuous professional growth, enhancing employee engagement, and nurturing positive social dialogue.

A firm believer in the power of collaboration and open communication, Karen is committed to creating an inclusive and motivating work environment. Passionate about making a positive impact both within and beyond the workplace, she actively supports initiatives that promote growth, innovation, and well-being.

Aside from her professional commitments, Karen is married, has a son and a family dog. Together they enjoy outdoor pursuits including hiking and climbing.
